

Claim Tips for Mandatory Evacuation

Generali plans provide coverage for a mandatory evacuation ordered by local authorities at your destination, provided plan requirements are met. Please follow the state authorities' guidelines regarding a mandatory evacuation.

Plans Provide Coverage For:

- » Unused vacation rental arrangements during a mandatory evacuation. Unused arrangements are pro-rated on a nightly basis. Plan limits apply.
- » Reasonable additional accommodation expenses during the mandatory evacuation period, such as overnight lodging, meals and local transportation. This Travel Delay coverage terminates when you are en route home or when you are able to return to the property. Generali's plans do not provide coverage for alternate vacations during a mandatory evacuation order. Per-day and per-plan limits apply.

Things to Remember

- » Keep all receipts.
- » If it is safe to do so, take reasonable steps to bring your baggage and other items with you if you are evacuated. Certain plans include coverage for lost or damaged baggage and personal effects (see your Description of Coverage or Policy for details), but some items left behind, such as perishables, will not be covered. Coverage is not available for gasoline, extra mileage and missed work days.
- » Because hurricanes increase the number of claims that we normally process, we ask for your patience and understanding if you file a claim. We have a catastrophe team dedicated to processing claims for hurricane-affected policyholders.
- » To file a claim, complete the attached Mandatory Evacuation Claim Form and send it to Generali Global Assistance with a copy of the rental agreement and any other supporting documentation. Be sure to send both claim form pages and include receipts for additional expenses resulting from the mandatory evacuation. Your assigned claim representative will make a final determination according to your plan's terms and conditions once all necessary documentation is received. Help us evaluate your claim more quickly by signing the claim form electronically and sending it by email to claims@generalitravelinsurance.com.

If you go home early and have less than half of your trip remaining when the mandatory evacuation is lifted (or less than the number of days specified in your Description of Coverage/Policy), you can receive coverage for the remaining portion of your reservation. Otherwise, you may not be reimbursed for your remaining unused arrangements after the evacuation is no longer in effect. Please review your Description of Coverage/Policy for full details. If possible, we recommend seeking accommodations out of harm's way during the mandatory evacuation period.
